

MI Child Support Formula - Re: reducing benefits for spouses that spend 52 hours with children

From: <YoYoPea@aol.com>
To: <mcsf@courts.mi.gov>
Date: 6/20/2003 3:13 PM
Subject: Re: reducing benefits for spouses that spend 52 hours with children

To whom it may concern:

The act of reducing the benefits of children should not be considered.

Yes, time is important to children as well as financial support but we can not take away the benefits that takes so hard to get in the first place. The children desire both the time and the financial support. By reducing the benefits because of time being spent, you'll have spouses spend all this time and for the wrong reasons and this could not be fair to the children.

Thank You,

Yolanda Pearson